My Friend Is Vaping, What Should I Do?

Vaping is illegal. Be a P.E.E.R and support your friend to stop vaping.

P

Provide non-judgmental listening and understanding

Take time to hear your friend out. Ask why they vape and what they are going through. Show care and empathy instead of rushing to fix things.

Encourage open conversation about vaping concerns

Let your friend know you are worried about their health. Today, vape liquids have been found to contain harmful substances like etomidate (a controlled drug). If caught, they may face mandatory testing, supervision and rehabilitation.

Encourage them to talk to a trusted adult, such as a parent, teacher or school counsellor.

Empower with healthy alternatives

Suggest healthier ways to cope, such as exercising, picking up a new hobby or trying stress-relievers such as stress balls. Join them in these activities to show your support.

Remind them not to give up even if they slip. Quitting takes time.

R

Refer to a trusted adult or professional help

Remind your friend that seeking help is a brave step. Offer to go with them to speak to a parent, teacher or counsellor if they feel nervous. This is not "betraying" their trust. It is making sure they get targeted support.

You can also encourage them to check out the QuitVape Programme. Those who voluntarily seek help will not face any penalties nor have an offence record.
